Byrd's idea, too, that Stultz ought to be the pilot. The result shows how good his judgment was. Navigating practically all the way "blind"—that is, by instruments only, and most always with just a magnetic compass drift indicator—Stultz wasn't a mile off the course when we passed over Valencia, Queenstown, and alighted on the South Wales coast after more than 2,000 miles of flying.

Perhaps some people have been thinking this is just another stunt flight, but it wasn't. We have come to a place in aviation whereathenced for technical advancement is more than spectacular stunts.

At 9 o'clock the tide, which is one of the most treacherous in the world here, started going out, and though the fog still hung over the bay, Stultz, who was getting impatient, sent far a marine pilot in order to get advice on how to take off in the treacherous

Our flight is still too close to tell what it may mean personally. I am sure I don't want to be known always as merely the first woman to fly the Atlantic. Aviation is a great thing. but it can't fill one's life completely.

Perhaps it will take time to get the right prospective upon the flight, so temporarily I am going to take my mind off it by visiting Toynbee Hall. The city officials, it appears, do not know what to do, and are marking time until Monday. An effort has been made to ascertain what interests are backing the woman, because her bill for injunction contains serious charges which, it is thought in the city all of the city's published stastistics on street repairs recite the cost per square yard of pavement laid. Mending of asphalt streets comprise the bulk of the pavement repairs. The White contract provides for payment upon each ton of 2,000 pounds of material used in the repairs. That prevents a direct comparison of costs.

Mertle N. Elsenau, in her bill, however, says the contract price is $11 at on for sheet asphalt for wearing surface in repairs classed as patch work. A fair price for this material placed is $14 a ton, according to the bill.

GENERAL SELECTRIC Refrigerator

OU will not want to miss the opening of this newest Uptown Chicago Shop. For, while it is primarily a display room for the General Electric Refrigerator, it will be a clearing house for culinary experiments.

Every morning from 10:00 to 12:00, during the formal opening, Miss Nellie Snavely, well known domestic science expert, will be present to answer questions and exchange ideas with those who have electric refrigerators. She will demonstrate the most efficient ways of using the refrigerators and suggest new and fascinating recipes.

The "Years Ahead" Refrigerator

It is a great pleasure to be able to offer this service to the women of Uptown Chicago. We want them to know more about these remarkable refrigerators. They are "years ahead" in design. They have no drain pipes, belts or fans. All their mechanism is safely stowed away in one her-metically sealed steel casing. They are unusually quiet and need no oiling. They are easy to keep clean because a constant circulation of warm air through the coils prevents dust from settling.

Fifteen Years of Research

For fifteen years the expert engineers and scientists of General Electric worked to perfect this revolutionary refrigerator. They were not satisfied until they arrived at this design, which makes possible complete assembling and testing in the factory. Once it leaves, no one ever touches it. The entire mechanism is installed by merely lowering it into the top of the cabinet. It is then plugged into any convenient outlet—and it works. No plumbing, no special wiring is required.

Already More Than 100,000 in Use

The almost instantaneous popularity of these refrigerators has fully justified the intensive labor that was put into their development. In less than a year more than 100,000 have been installed in American homes. There they quietly do their vital job. They cut the tasks of the housekeeper, they bring her new comfort and, most important of all, they safeguard the health of the whole family by keeping all foods healthfully fresh.

Visit our new Uptown Chicago Display Room or your own neighborhood store and see the many models in actual operation. Learn for yourself how wonderfully quiet and efficient they are. The Display Rooms will be open evenings until nine-thirty.

In reply to this charge Commissioner Goodrich at the lists, once canceled, could not be revived. At the city hall Mr. Goodrich's statement was interpreted as evidence that relations between the commissioner and Mr. Houston still are strained over the dismissal of former Fire Chief Arthur Seyferlich. Ill feeling between the two last fall became so keen that Goodrich threatened, ironing over the differences, but friction between the two cabinet heads is said to have continued.

an authority given it to perform " such other acts as may be necessary," but the court held that this was not authority to do everything the committee wanted to do. It was not to be construed as authority to use the judicial processes of the United States. It was limited to such other things as were within the power possessed and customa rily exerted by the senate.

This is a timely check to an unusual develop nent in government by the senate. It has been wholly impatient with obstructions encountered in its activities and has been indifferent to the means of getting rid of them. Within its proper The country is indebted to such men as Walsh and Reed for much of the work they and their ociates, both Democratic and Republican, have lone in defending standards of public conduct.

Great moral support was given the senate beuse of this and the danger arose that it would misused. It was a danger that was in the way of being realized. The senate was extending itself into judicial and administrative acts. Outseeking to direct government and to punish per-sons brought before it. Even in the case of Smith of Illinois the senate, although entirely justified in holding the candidate disqualified for political misconduct, converted the issue into one in which it virtually asserted that it reserved the right to elected by a state. That was done by the refusal to honor the valid credentials of an unquestioned election before proceeding to determine the fitness of the man elected. The distinction was important. By the procedure adopted the senate de-clared its power to nullify an election rather than eration. Still, there would have its right to expel a man after his election had

act fixing Easter as the first Sunday after the second Saturday in April each year. Apparently religious authority was not consulted. The cable said that the view of the churches had not been announced. That would make it appear that the state, having declared to the Church of England what its form of prayer should be, had proceeded further with its interference in religious matters and was dictating the time for the celebration of one of the holiest of days. Easter has had its spiritual relation to the vernal equinox, the rising from the grave and the tirth of spring. The reaffirmation of the great faith of the Christian churches was timed in the Gregorian calebdar for people of the faith in the British politicians permit this celebration of faith to remain in April, but they treat it as an economic and not a sacred factor in life.

That is something an anti-religious Russian government might be expected to do. It has been plained that so long as Easter varied in time as it does by being fixed for the first Sunday after the first full moon after the vernal equino: many trades were stumped to regulate their out-put. Many celebrants want new clothes and new apparel of all kinds for the occasions. They brighten up materially as well as spiritually and touch of winter or a touch of summer. The complaint does not seem to hold together, but calendar revisionists urge it.

Aside from the fact that church authority is in its own domain in determining the time and the manner of its celebrations there was poetry in the formula by which the Easter date was deternined and all its suggestions were verific of the faith inspiring the observances.

In the absence of any known church comment on this legislation it may be hazardous to anticipute protest, opposition or refusal to consent, but here it would seem is the opportunity for the church to declare the inability of the state to make decisions for religious observance. Such an act could not be enforced and if, in the case of the Church of England, the controversy still would be restoring the church to freedom of be ief and liberty of conscience.

The interdependence of church on state or state on church discloses in every incident the incon-sistency of such relation tency of such relations and the injury done by Following his visit to the model children's homes, factories and schools at Moscow, Mr. Gorky, according to the Moscow Pravda, suggested that the state printing trust publish a new journal entitled, "Our Achievements." This, he said, would not only acquaint Europeans but also Russian workers in Russia with the soviet successes, since he discerned much skepticism among the workers regarding the dictatorship of the proletariat.

At a meeting held to discuss the project the communist publicists informed M. Gorky that the government had enough publications praising the government, and suggested that he instead become editor in chief of a weekly devoted to helpful criticism and suggestions. They said his statements as a noncommunist would tend to add authority to his publication.

M. Gorky replied that the bolsheviki were too modest, and his original project was finally accepted. The journal, "Our Achievements," will appear

The decision of the Japanese government to increase the punishment of persons convicted of revolutionary activities to include life imprisonment and even the death sentence horrifies the Moscow Pravda, which publishes a long article attacking the capitalistic Japanese government's heartless cruelty. The Pravda does not mention the death sentence which Russia enforces against political offenders. It reports a meeting of protest by factory workers, which passed resolutions condemning Japanese capitalists and expressing sympathy for imprisoned communists.

Transparent Velvet Goes Into Print and Becomes a New Frock Fashion

THIS is the first showing of the new and delightfully charming frock fashion—introduced at the recent Paris openings, and accepted with enthusiasm by the smart and fashionable world of two continents!

Velvet as Light as Chiffon!

Comparable to chiffen in its delicacy of texture—this velvet is as light as a bit of thistledown. And it falls in graceful lines and folds that outline the figure.

Styles That Precede the Mode

Copies of Vionnet. The tightly swathed hipline is conspicuous—the soft side drapery that dips below the hem—and an individual treatment of necklines. The prints are very smart—dot, salt and pepper, and circle patterns, the oak leaf and the star appearing in combinations of middy blue, beige, black, and gray.

Sizes 14 to 18 for Misses Sizes 34 to 44 for Women

Sketched left: Misses' frock of transparent velvet printed in small dots. The handfagoting is smart and the tightly swathed hipline and one-sided neckline are deft touches. The side drapery falls below the hamline. Sketched right: Woman's frock in star-patterned transparent velvet. The V-neck is emphasized by a shoulder bow. The slim skirt is pulled to one side, the graceful flare falling below the hem in a new manner.

of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their systems. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Oakland-Pontiac increase sales $709,000

"The Tribune is the greatest selling medium in the world" says MMUNITY MOTORS

> URING all the commotion caused this year by changing models and fiew sales plans, Community Motors, Cook County distributors of Oakland and Pontiac, declined to experiment.

During previous years they had learned much about selling the Chicago market. When the market went into a state of flux they stood by what they had learned. They spent practically half their newspaper advertising appropriation in The Chicago Tribune, hammered away with many page smashes, never missing a Sunday issue, and placing a total of 29,761 lines of advertising in The Tribune during the first three months of 1928.

By now the year's selling tendencies are clear. And looming large among its features is the success which rewarded Community Motors' faith in The Tribune. For in a year when more than half of the makes were behind the first quarter of last year in Cook County, Community Motors' sales of new cars were $709,639.32 higher than during the same period a year ago—a gain of over 81%.

Perhaps you will be interested in what we have accom lished during the first quarter of 1928 with the aid of Tribune

During the first quarter of last year, we sold 1108 new care for a total of $875,404.98. This year we have advertised more heavily, making consistent use of large space in The Tribune, and our sales for the quarter were 1882 new cars for a grees of $1,585,044.30. This is an increase of more than 815 in new car we feel that Tribune advertising is entitled to share nerously in the credit for this advance, because of the unmistakable mar in which it brought us business. Both for number of people ached and their ability to buy, The Tribune is by far Chicago's entert newspaper and we consider it the backbone of our advertising ffort in the territory.

I might add that our experience amply justifies the use of large space, since we find that the effectiveness of our advertising ingreases far more than the cost, when we use page units.

The accompanying letter from P. L. Knoedler, president of Community Motors, gives Tribune advertising generous credit for the part it played in the achievement.

Tribune Was First

H. A. Wehmeier, vice president of the Community Motors, amplifies Mr. Knoedler's statements with telling force.

"Our sales problem," he said, "was getting volume of prospects. We knew that The Tribune was read by practically everyone who was a prospect for us. We knew that whatever else we did, our best assurance of volume lay in a thorough job of advertising in The Tribune. So we placed The Tribune first in our program, using impressive units of space without let-up, and in particular on Sunday, the best selling day for motor cars.

"The results abunda vindicate our faith in Tribune. Not only did sell nearly twice the nun of new units, but the que of people answering made our entire p lem much easier. In my opinion, The cago Tribune is the greatest selling med in the world today."

Much of what Mr. Wehmeier says is well known along motor row. But old truths often bear restating-particularly now, when new models, new prices and realignment have tempted some into a policy of advertising experiments.

Like every one else, Community Motor has had some months of experience in t market. And its success with Tribune vertising is an outstanding reminder that t prescription which brought success in form years is just as potent in this year of 192 The prescription is powerful, consistent of Tribune advertising.

LICENSE IN PERIL

BERT ACOSTA.

New York, June 19.—[Special.]—Bert Acosta, veteran pilot of Commander Byrd's trans-Atlantic flight, may lose his license as a result of the accident in which he crashed with three passengers, two of them women, while "stunt" flying over Roosevelt field yesterday afternoon. Pilots at the field said today that Acosta's license had been suspended for ninety days by the department of commerce for violation of flying regulations in Chicago recently. So far as is known here, this suspension was still in effect when Acosta took to the air in Levine's plane yesterday.

Mrs. Dorothy Walker, one of the women passengers, suffered a broken nose, but the others escaped with minor cuts and scratches.

The body of an unidentified man, apparently a laborer, was recovered from the river at Van Buren street by the Des Plaines street police last night.

Risko, Godfrey Clash Tonight in N. Y. Ring the of

New York, June 19.—()—George Godfrey, the Negro giant from Lieperville, Pa., and Johnny Risko, Cleveland, O., heavyweight, will meet tomorrow at Ebbets field to battle for leadership among the contenders for Gene Tunney's heavyweight title.

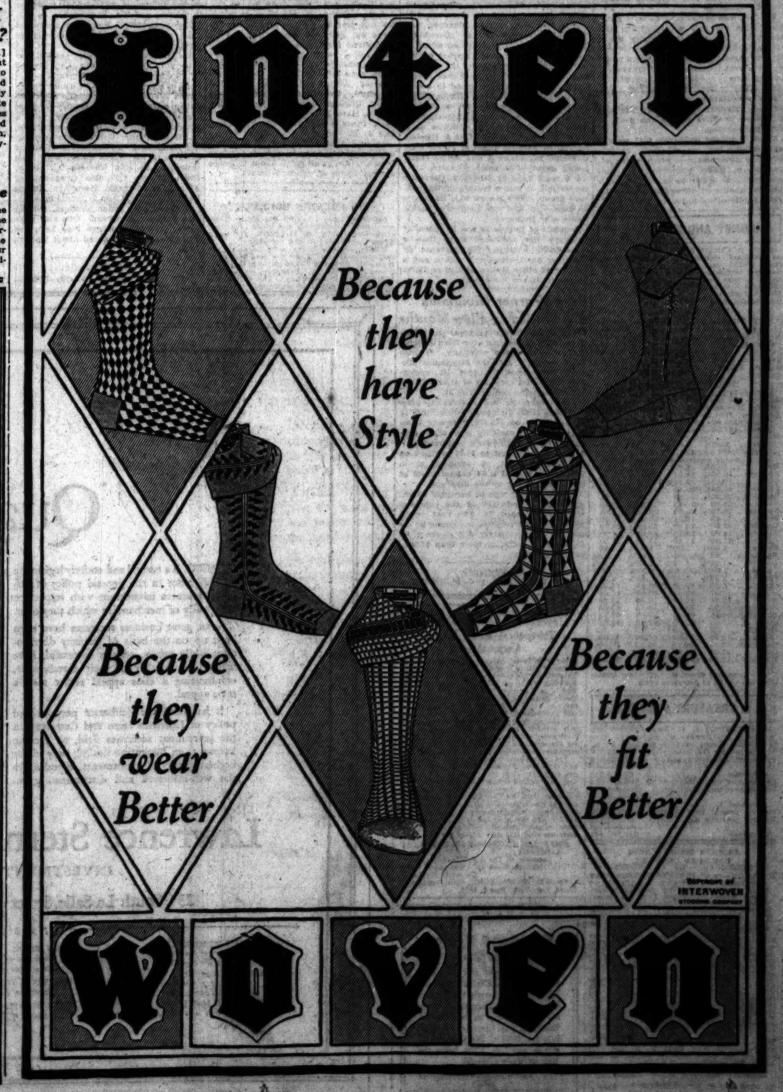

A victory for Risko, who brought about the sudden elimination of Jack Sharkey from Tex Rickard's elimination series, would be a long forward step for Godfrey. The reigning "black menace" has never made a good showing in his bouts in New York, although he can point with pride to a recent victory over Paulino Uzcudun in Los Angeles, Cal.

Risko, on the other hand, has the sole aim of eliminating the last serious threat to his leadership among the heavyweight challengers. The extended the contenders of the Scottish Old People's home in the accepted challenger, by his victory over Sharkey.

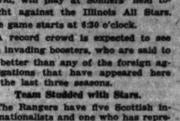

Godfrey is a 7 to 5 favorite to win, The American Giants Touted to pitchers of the St. Louis Stars yested.

RECENTLY, a retired mid-western business man submitted his list to our Investment

He had built this fortune over a period of twenty years, by putting a portion of his busiwhen his business was smaller, he was able to buy only one $1,000 bond at a time. As his business grew, he bought in progressively larger units. By 1915 he was buying bonds in blocks of $5,000 of an issue, and in 1919 his usual purchases were $10,000 or more of single issues. Then, during the depression in 1920, his business began to slip. He sold only one particular kind of merchandise, by mail. There was nothing else to fall back on. To keep his plant in operation, and stimulate sales by advertising, he dipped of his product still waned.

During 1920 and 1921 he exhausted the Company's surplus in an unsuccessful effort to revive his business. He then realized that his product had become obsolete—that there was practically no more public demand for it.

So he did the wisest thing—he decided to liquidate entirely. By so doing he realized only a small sum. But—instead of being left penniless, he had his personal reserve. Nearly $2,000,000 safely invested in well-diversified securities. No need for him to worry.

Many successful business men fail to learn this lesson until too late. We invite any responsible business man to discuss the subject with us on the basis of constructive policy—set

Lost Dictionary of Aztecs Found in Library Here

ent in Mexico City, not While language sleuths have been hunting high and low across the old and the new worlds for several generations for the "great Sahagun dic-tionary" of the Aztec language which was made within half a century of the conquest of Mexico by the Span-iards in 1521, it was found yesterday by a Tribune correspondent in the Newberry library in this city.

Sahagun himself has left an account of this dictionary, which he says was trilingual, being written in Spanish, Latin, and Aztec. A note in pencil written on the front page of the Newberry manuscript says the dictionary was made by the old priest Sahagun, who came to Mexico in 1529 and lived the remainder of his long life there till his death, in 1590. He was a tireless collector of data relating to the Aztec empire and the pre-conquest Mexican people, and his vast collec-tion of documents constitute by far

FE!

Meanwhile in Chicago the thought for the library as a believable being. He has been madified just to the extent that the theater requires. The mattoid of Mr. Lardner's letters could not conceivably have been made the principal figure of a play without the modifications that have been anotheved. If you've never met a fellow like Elmer Mean, your opportunities in life have been piteously slim! The Elmers of daily intercourse are not, in the American Scene, confined to the arena of professional baseball: and Mr. Cohan, been piteously slim! The Elmers of daily intercourse are not, in the American Scene, confined to the arena of professional baseball: there is one to be met wherever the chance or the routine of getting along takes us from one day to the next. Mr. Lardner met this Elmer in baseball: and Mr. Cohan was, probably, the last man in all the world to require an argument as to be met wherever the chance or the routine of getting along takes us from one day to the next. Mr. Lardner met this Elmer in baseball: and Mr. Cohan was, probably, the last man in all the world to require an argument as to be met wherever all the purposes of which it has been designed. No intelligent reader of the daily news.

That Elmer has been put into a play that serves all the purposes of which it has been designed. No intelligent reader of the daily news.

This Elmer has been put into a play that serves all the purposes of which it has been designed. No intelligent reader of the daily newspapers can fairly express doubt as to the credibility of the episodes and incidents in this tale of how Elmer went in triumph, in misery, and in love from an Indiana township to the Polo Grounds, twirled his team into victory in the World Serious, and then returned to Gentryville to have matters out with the girl. 'Tis a plain tale, told shrewdly and told well. I submit two scenes that are fresh, vivid, human, and fairly allive in comic effect; one wherein the outraged hick is placated by team-mates who frankly hate him, and one wherein he is put on the grill in the honest belief of the management that he has taken money to throw the day's game.

And the play is acted to the nines by the performers listed above. I tried in yesterday's hurried memorandum to say how good Mr. Huston is in the title-part: he is just immense! Miss Sunderland is so nice as the girl that she seems to be somebody other than she was when last in Chicago; and there is a new brunette beauty in Miss Francis. As to those who appear as Elmer's big-league confrères, I don't know whether they are actors pretending to be ball-players or ball-players pretending to be actors; and they are a credit to themselves and to Mr. Cohan's genius for direction.

The dictionary manuscript in the Newberry library is in good state of preservation and it is, as Sahagun himself describes it, written in three languages, Spanish, Latin, and Aztec. The Spanish-Latin part is in black, while the Aztec is in red ink, and the style of lettering is that of the professional manuscript copiers of the six news, and the less is the chore of the swarzs and emotional reactions to the new play. TRIBUNE COOK BOOK BY JANE EDDINGTON.

The Radishes.

We said it once, we think it now, that for spring meals from breakfast to unholy midnight repasts the mild and sweeter sorts of radishes are a joy forever. We are not talking about those poorly raised which are biting in the extreme.

One of the chief charms of the small rose radish is its delightful crispness and its coaxing surface coloring. In serving it the innermost of the green leaves should be left on for the sake of their daintiness, and if you have a salad with French dressing you might dip them in that after you have albed off the little bulb.

William Jennings Bryan gave his idea of how to eat the white icicle to the editor of a man's cook book, thus:
"The long, white icicle radish is, in my judgment, the best variety, and I have found that butter added to the salit makes the radish a little more palatable." Some one has said, but not so as to convince me utterly, that the Frenchman always butters his radishes. Butter is served in the radish course, as you can find in French cook book menus, but so is bread.

The most wonderful radish I ever has and tasted was at a hotel in Michigan. It was a red radish and as large as a peach. I nibbled at it healtaingly because I imagined it would not be anything like the mellow thing it was.

Eills Parker Butter has probably selling the most wanterings the most would not be anything like the mellow thing it was.

not be anything like the mellow thing it was.

Ellis Parker Butler has probably written the most entertaining thing on the radish that was ever said, and it is partly an appreciation. In part he says: "I have eaten some in California that were white and about as long as a tallow candib, but bigger around the waist, and they were as crisp as celery hearts and as julcy as oranges. I have eaten some in lowa that were turnip shaped and as sweet as well cured filberts," but he raised some violently different.

PARIS, June 19.—A 19 year old Chicago dancer, Harriette Louise Berkowitz, made her Paris debut in the Salle Pleyel tonight, with Andreas Pavley as her dancing partner. Miss Berkowitz is the daughter of Dr. Joseph G. Berkowitz, medical director of the Chicago Public Health institute, and is a graduate of the Francis W. Parker school. She came to Paris with her mother two years ago to study under Leo Staats of the Paris Opera, and Vera Trefilova. In her performance tonight her beauty and grace excited much comment from critics, who predicted a brilliant future for her.

I'm speaking of the ordinary black-head disturbance that "gunshots" the nose and mouth corners, and which has not become infected and broken out into pimples.

There are exaggerated cases in which face steaming is advised to get rid of blackheads. If they're stubbornly implanted apply cold cream first to soften the hard substance. Have two towels ready for the steaming. Apply them alternately after wringing out in hot water. Then remove as many blackheads as you can with a comedo extractor, or with the fingers. Wipe with a solution of perioxide or alcohol. Then apply cold water and finish off with an ice rub.

Antoinette Tells How to Keep Your Complexion Lovely

They are small atoms of fat covered with dirt and grime which have solidified in the pores and clogged them. They get into the pores and remain therein because one is not using the simple preventive of properly washing the face.

I can't imagine a person in the world who doesn't wash his or her face once a day. It's how they do it, however, that counts. For instance, there is quite an element that washes the face with soap and water, but the water used is quite warm or hot, and no rinse in cooler water follows. What happens is that this frequent hot water washing keeps the pores open and promotes their enlargement.

In line this Lelong costume demonstrates once more that we may obtain a maximum of novelty from a minimum of elaboration. The entire success is achieved in fact, by the manner in which the movement of the bolero, rising in the front and dipping low in the back, is echoed by the movement of the overskirt. If His Character's Fine Why Yearn for a Perfect Apollo?

BY DORIS BLAKE. If young men demand a snapppy "Dear Miss Blake: My chum loves, appearance in the girls of today, it's the boy I love. She is prettier and fair enough that the girls return the more charming than I. What shall demand, isn't it?

I suppose it is the unusual young girl to whom a man's appearance is a matter of small importance. We older ones, perhaps, forget that when we were young and giddy we weren't so enthused, either, about parading our conquests for the good character they possessed. The fact that he was henest, sober and industrious we sneakingly opined as not to be nearly so impressive to fancied rivals as that his suit was grand, his tie, his hat, his suit was grand, his tie, his hat, his pleasant pastime, isn't it, Ann? and his shoes ditto, to say nothing of the elegant figure inside and under-neath the swell haberdashery. So that our sometimes impatience with the superficial judgment of young girls is not justified. I mean, not by our own It's pleasant pastime, isn't it, Ann? Don't you think they are somewhat jealous of his attentions to you?

It is a fact, however, that a young man's appearance today is strongly influential in the matter of his popularity. And as I say, it should be if men are becoming as exact as they are reported to be about the girl they're seen around with. However, I'm not going to preach on the subject of letting sartorial effects blind young women. Because here's a young women who can do it much better. "I went with two men," writes R. G. "One had a wonderful character. The other had a wonderful character. The other had a wonderful lingo, was handsome and a walking ad for what the well dressed man should wear. Every time I looked at him I got a the well dressed man should wear. Every time I looked at him I got a thrill to think he loved me. He was elegant. He still is. Before I was married to him one year we were separated. The first three months were wonderful. Then it was a case of needing other girls to fiatter him on his looks, his clothes, and his manners.

"My adoration was simply not suffi-cient to his needs. My warning is to be sure of a man's strength of character. That's what matters after
